Brownstone Security Is Now On Facebook
Facebook page showcases events, company news, and current job openings

(Redondo Beach, CA—July 1, 2009...) Brownstone Security, a leading provider of security services in Southern California and Nevada, has joined the social media network Facebook to keep clients and employees up-to-date on company news, events, and job openings.

Ashley Felts, assistant director of marketing, says, “We believe that the exposure on Facebook will help us to reach out to our clients and employees in a new, exciting way. We’ve developed our Facebook page to be informative, interactive, and contemporary so that we can continue to provide timely and relevant information to those in our company and industry.”

Brownstone Security’s Facebook page will showcase the company’s latest events, news, and job openings for both the Southern California and Nevada markets. In addition, the page features photos, videos, and discussions about the company and the security industry. All are welcome to visit the page and become a fan.

Brownstone Security currently has a page on MySpace and YouTube, and will expand its presence in 2009 on other social networking sites including Twitter and LinkedIn.
